

Case 1: negative charges flow to the right

Result: left side is more positive than before,
right side is more negative than before

Case 2: positive charges flow to the left

Result: left side is more positive than before,
right side is more negative than before