

the current must flow through the meter to get back to the supply